ABOUT THE PLAY

What do you do when you have six weeks and a small but motivated group of actors with great but slightly divergent ideas? You make a variety show! Sprinkle in a bit of drag, a pinch of plot, and a drop of audience interaction, and you get A Very Normal Variety Show, our fever dream of a winter production. Enjoy!

ABOUT ARTS LIBERATED

We are Arts Liberated, an English-language student theater group founded by students of Liberal Arts and Sciences. We started with An Inspector Calls in 2017, and since then we staged novels, adapted classics, and wrote our own plays. We're cool, chaotic, and queer – and we would love to see you at our castings or shows.

We are part of something bigger. If you are interested in the work of our fellow Freiburg student theater groups, check out uni.theater

THANK YOU NOTE

There are many people without whom this project could not have happened. We want to thank the FIST* e.V. for their continuous support, the ManiActs for their resources and rehearsal rooms, Raffael Polz from UCF for printing, Noa Ogrzall for the pictures, Colin Nehrizov for his continuous tech support and the t-shirts. Finally, we want to thank all House people for their work, and you, our dear audience, for coming to our shows.
